

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An optically active lactone compound is produced by using a complex in which Pd or Pt is a central metal and a compound having a specified structure is a ligand as a catalyst, and subjecting a cyclic ketone compound to a Baeyer-Villiger oxidation with a specified oxidizer.